Brig.-Gen. McDonald to Speak Here Thursday

Brig.-Gen. H. R. McDonald will deliver an address tomorrow night—Thursday—at 8 o'clock at the Gleichen Opera House, concerning the work of the Red Cross Society, and the public is most cordially invited to attend this meeting.

Soldiers every man and woman will make it a point to be present to hear the General speak. It is seldom Gleichen people have an opportunity of hearing and discussing so many of the important points that he does.

His personality should draw a big crowd, but the subject he has chosen to speak on is one that everyone is deeply interested in and should add much to the number who will be present. In view of the great work the Red Cross accomplished during the war and now intend to make further use of locally.

At present the plan of the Alberta branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society materializes, every person residing within the confines of this province will within reasonable distance of a hospital, doctor or Red Cross nurse, professional executive officers.

One of the most important tasks included in the work of the Red Cross is the bringing of soldier settlers closer to medical assistance in case of sickness. With but few exceptions remote districts are far removed from the benefits of a hospital, and some of them are many miles from a doctor. Reports have been made to provincial headquarters by investigators of the Red Cross, have from time to time received most distressing instances of where people unfortunate enough to suffer accidents have had to undergo excruciating pain for hours while medical attention has been secured. Many cases have been reported as having been the part of the doctor.

The Canadian Red Cross Society through provincial branches has already established small hospitals of an emergency character under the supervision of a qualified nurse, to cope with urgent requirements. Evacuation settling down in late April, the Canadian Red Cross and the Soldier Settlement Board, have shaved the figures of civilization back a few more miles and has in all cases put a greater distance between the families and medical attention.

The work of establishing outdoor hospitals is not being carried on exclusively by the Red Cross, but through co-operation with the provincial charitable bodies of health. Money and nurses have been provided freely, according to the need, and the results obtained to date have fully justified the outlet.

The membership drive, which will commence on June 5th, will give every Canadian an opportunity to become associated with this work by becoming a member of the Red Cross Society.

All Now Ready for Empire Day Gleichen Tuesday, May 24

There is every indication that the Gleichen Empire Day of sports will prove a huge success from the moment the program starts, which will be sharp at 10 o'clock next Tuesday afternoon, until sometime in the next morning. The committee in charge have certainly arranged an exceptionally good program and will see it carried out promptly.

No one in this country is so bold that they will not want to see the kiddies perform and none so young that the horses will not interest them. Calgary Vets are sending their first team to play football and they may need their best. Listen to this:

Calgary Morning Albertan: "Gleichen will hold a field day on Victoria Day, May 21st, and has invited the Vets football team of this city to play there. It is expected that a large crowd of spectators will accompany the teams. In addition the Vets to make up the trip the Shamrocks have kindly agreed to postpone the league schedule for that date."

All the Black Creek people coming in to root for their boys, who are quite determined to give the Gleichen Baseball Club at least something to work for that evening.

Appended is the program for the day, every item of which will be duly contested:

Coleman, vice-president of the company, stating in effect that while the business and financial situation has not yet cleared sufficiently to justify his company in promising.

Immigration to Double in Five Years

Col. J. S. Dennis, Vice-President of the Canadian Pacific Ry., was a witness on the Grand Trunk Arbitration Board recently and told an interesting story of the West covering a period of nearly fifty years.

He has perhaps a wider and more personal knowledge than any other man and described graphically the changes that have taken place in the great Western territory from the time when a young man, in 1872, he first came West in the employ of the Department of the Interior until the present day. The early settlement and struggles, the method of land survey, first transportation lines, its agricultural beginnings, commercial extensions, mineral resources, etc.,—showing by tabulated statements and maps the steady increase that has resulted during the period under discussion, and, under cross-examination, giving his opinion of the future that lies before it.

Col. Dennis then went on to tell of the development of the West. He gave figures showing the increase in population for various periods; the growth of bank clearings at principal points; the increase in elevator capacity; the total land acreage and the acreage under cultivation; the land tributary to existing railways; lines available for settlement; the suitability for land settlement; the growth of the railway; a description of the Peace River country; the amount of grain produced; the value of a settler to the railroads and country; irrigation development; and extension; mineral output and the prospect of Alberta oilfields.

After a brief description of the proposed work of the Western Canada Colonization Co., the witness was asked to give his opinion of the outlook for future development of Western Canada.

"Very briefly," said Col. Dennis, "my opinion with regard to the development of the Western Prairie Provinces is conditioned on one fact only. We have, as I have shown, at the present time, thirty-two million acres of land being cultivated and under production. We have adjacent to the railway lines that serve that present productive area, an area equally large that is absolutely unproductive. If in the near future we can make this thirty-three million acres of land that lies within fifteen miles of existing railway productive of settlement, it is a fair estimate that it will more than double the productiveness of the country, because if the thirty-two million acres that we now have under cultivation produce the same as we have at present, the colonization of the additional thirty-three million acres will produce a great deal more than a similar amount."

"Now," he continued, "whether we can colonize it or not depends upon the Government. If the Government, in view of the present railway situation, are going to impose restrictions with regard to colonization, of course that means a lengthened time within which development can be carried out. * * * My opinion is that a very rapid development can be produced within the next few years and the Grand Trunk Pacific absolutely depends upon it."

"To sum up, I will say that if all interests take hold of the matter intelligently and aggressively and the Government will consider the interests of the National Railways and not her due, it is my opinion we should have a very marked movement of people to Western Canada. In fact I will be disappointed if our immigration does not double within the next five years."

The prospects for a bumper crop were never brighter at this time of year than now. Don't spoil it by worrying what the price will be next fall—keep smiling.

Every wise farmer in this district will accept the invitation of Secretary R. F. Umbricht published in The Call last issue to attend the C.P.A. Grasshopper Meeting next Saturday afternoon at 2:30, when a speaker from the School of Agriculture will be present to discuss the subject and how best to get rid of the pests.

Next Tuesday is Empire Day and a public holiday when the Gleichen District Agricultural Association will put on their annual day of sports, which this year gives promise of being one of the most enjoyable of its many predecessors. The committees in charge have been working hard to prepare a program that will contain something to please everyone, and, although they were delayed in securing baseball and football games, their efforts have been amply repaid by securing two most promising games. A big crowd and plenty of excitement and real enjoyment may be counted on.

Red Cross Notes

The first duty of medicine is not to cure disease but to prevent it. The primary duty of the Canadian Red Cross is to educate the people of Canada to the importance of personal and community hygiene. While this education is going on thousands of dollars are being spent in assisting to cure disease that could have been prevented if precautionary measures had been taken.

The Red Cross enrollment drive, which will be launched on June 1st, to increase the number of new members in the community, is the one opportunity being given the people of Canada to become part of an organization that lives only for the good it can accomplish and suffering it can alleviate and prevent.

We are convinced of the prime importance of widely disseminating among the people a knowledge of the simple laws of healthy living and a conviction as to the need of applying them." was one of the expressions which found utterance at the Cannes Conference of the International Red Cross Societies in 1919, and it is a principle which the Canadian Red Cross endeavors to follow.

The Dominion organization is giving the people of Canada an opportunity to show how much they believe in the methodology of this praiseworthy institution by instituting a membership campaign during the week of June 1st, in which every citizen of Canada will be asked to assume some responsibility being carried by this body.

Sixty Head of Alberta
Cattle For Old Country
Markets

Sixty head of Alberta steers will be shipped from Montreal, June 8, for the old country markets, where they will be used to retire the last slander which has been circulated against our cattle—namely that they are not a good buy as feeders even if they are admitted. Included in the shipment will be the 15 head which have received such high placing in the fat stock ring on both sides of the line these will give the old country stock men a chance to see what our steers can be brought in when given every feeding advantage.

The remainder are ordinary fat steers which have been gathered from a number of different parts of the province by the provincial government.
They were fed and raised under the conditions which may be applicable to any farmer or stockman who wishes to raise specially feed steers for the market.

From what the Examiner knows of the shipment there does not seem to be a doubt but that it will show the old country breeders and feeders that Alberta steers are of a quality that is admirably suited to finishing as prime meat. While everybody hopes the venture will be a success financially, that is not the primary object of the shipment. As a matter of fact, we are sending the cattle to the West Coast, Canada is already aware of this point, and it is at home do not know what the idea is we cannot much blame people overseas for having a wrong conception of our meat.

Professor A. D. Dowell, professor of animal husbandry at the University of Alberta, who has charge of the steers which will be sent to the West Coast, says that General Marshall will be there to receive them and see that the proper property is given the animals, and that within the limited time which will be allowed that they may be inspected by as many of the influential people in the old country as possible.

A POISON STOREHOUSE IN EVERY HOME

You may not think so, but that's what happens to every one of us when we get married. Women are the filters that remove from the blood the waste matter that acts as poisons to the body, the heart and health of the system. Dr. Hamilton, a famous authority on the physical fitness of women, states that she believes, restore the heart and stimulate all the organs of the body. She will clean up the system, tone the muscles, give you restful sleep quickly at night. Millions of pills, used and tested in every home. ## THE TEST

By E. L.

Written Exclusively For This Paper

When Mary returned from boarding school to the white cottage where her father and mother lived in the country town about three years ago, the large city, she was just nineteen, lively, strong and beautiful.

Her parents had struggled through the years in a vain battle with poverty; looked her over approvingly, appraising her youth and vigor, so many assets in the making.

It was to this end that Mrs. Valentine cultivated the acquaintance of Tom Holcomb, a blue man of the world with keen wit, a dash of fogey, with a heart which beat only for old, much older than the fifty years to old, who had a private income.

And in time he took back the youth, which age, in an unpredictable life, always regressed. James Holcomb, attracted by Mary's fresh bloom and beauty, and the way she looked at him as he allowed his attentions upon her and plied her mother with gifts. Mrs. Valentine smiled approvingly.

"I am sure that you shall never know the meaning of grinding poverty, and perhaps it will come to an end now."

But Mary had already given her heart. Since she was a tiny, white-frosted child she had been friends with the girl who was to be her tall, tawny, the fast young man of twenty-three. Tom was a market gardener. He was the little boy on a warm summer afternoon she sweet and fresh and lovely and he sought, well-made and vigorous, was a true up-to-date boy. Good night, Tom! And as Mary saw the white folds of the glace which he sometimes wore upon her bosom, he offered her a kiss, and the beautiful thing in the world, first love of his young man.

But Tom and Mrs. Valentine had her secret in him out of her life. She was only nineteen and her heart could not be touched by the devotion of a clever man of the world, who was a good man, well known to have the heart of a woman. Then as her mother told her, she had to struggle the whole day with Tom, who had wild hair and a long beard that had been there since a boy. Mary would follow the path, the girl told Tom, on a soft, September evening, when the sun was fully down on them, half obscured by the clouds that they must pass. She would give him roses and Tom was young and strong and she did not know that her heart was breaking, as he strode away with his impetuosity, anger, ears and broken.

In a few weeks, Mrs. Valentine had to let him out of her life. She was only nineteen and her heart could not be touched by the devotion of a clever man of the world, who was a good man, well known to have the heart of a woman.

Then the cottage of the Dally's, containing of human happiness, she had laid upon them there for a year, Tom had dreamt of her as being the Queen of that little spot.

And for a beautiful island in the summer seas on a white decked steamer, James Holcomb sat alone with his memories, not of Mary, but of a first love thirty years before.

Vancouver Girl Won Captured Provincial and Dominion Prints Given by Fisheries Department.

Miss Marion M. Osborne, of Vancouver, has been awarded the capital prize in a fish recipe contest instituted by the fisheries department. The sum $100 was awarded to the best recipe for each province and $25 additional for the best recipes in Canada. Miss Osborne was born in British Columbia and has resided in Victoria since she was a small child and so well to do.

"Better is an old man's darling, etc." crooked an old dame and all the folk asked each other.

But ah, had they read the heart of Mary, there would have been a different story. Mrs. Mary's heart was not in the old saying, nor in the words over the little cottage where Tom was. Tom said no word, but he had changed. His shoulders drooped a little, his eyes half closed, his face had a grey look hereafter quite foreign to him, and in his eyes instead of the white light of his first devotion, there shone a sickening glow.

Mrs. Valentine, Mary and Tom comb were to spend a brilliant winter.

ter season in the city, during which time she had been introduced to society and her marriage was to take place in the spring.

It was after a marvelous ball one evening when Mary came to a halt at her hotel door. As her host had her "good-night" drew her gently towards him and clasped her on the cheek. She receded and alighted from the chair and when she drove homewards white, her mother was very silent. For the rest of the night she took no sleepes, lay awake in the dark, thinking of her husband, the man and the wife she had hoped to be.

News regarding Mary had not yet come to the city to the little town, and her thoughts and beauty were still common talk. Only Tom Holcomb knew the secret.

He remained silent when the others chatted. Some of whom knew of his son, and some were sorry, but Tom had hoped too high; that Mary could never have been happy with him, but in the end he had given up his hope.

He had been more, now, than ever, and was still willing to wait, but she, no, she didn't feel that he was wretched.

That evening Tom snuck quietly into the room where Mary was sleeping. The shadows were falling, the firelight, everything was quiet and still. He often sat like this until late down, conjuring up pictures of Mary as he heard of her in the trumpet of the great city, and most darkening thought of Mary, as that other son and non-committal, almost naturally so for such a young man, but serious a man, reader. Now he had his head close to his hands and let his head sink into his hands. It was then that Mary saw him as she crept in the garden path to the door. When she saw him she opened the door and stepped in crying.

"Tom, I can't do it, I couldn't keep it up. It'll make me so much misery for a few months just to be engaged to you. I'm going to come to you again though, and tell you the truth."

And for the first time Tom held his heart's desire in his arms and the light that never shone on land or sea, shone brightly upon his earnest face.

And so instead of a wedding in the big city, Mary and Tom were very quiet, very simple, the paragon of virtue would be a good wife for Tom, and he could not help a pang as he recalled how much Mary had given up for him.

Tom had promised as he would work to make it up to her. Then they both recited a great surprise in the garden, and Tom had to go to bed.

But the persistence of type was so marked that any slight variation was due to the sun's radiation changing from year to year, affecting the growth of the plant.

And for the first time Tom held his heart's desire in his arms and the light that never shone on land or sea, shone brightly upon his earnest face.

Nature tries to develop every child in the first and last round of small-leaf plants, and this is the best of all, and its vegetative life commences in agriculture in a thousand and varied ways. Sir Frederick Sturtevant declares that the best way to grow the potato is to plant the old crop. Addressing the Toronto Electric Club in the Meesop Hotel, he said that climatic conditions are the best factor in determining the quality of the crop.

Children with good teeth will grow up to be healthy adults, and the teeth because the good teeth habit grows. Did you ever know a healthy, happy person with a poor digestion?

If the food is not well chewed and mixed with saliva, digestion is very difficult. A great deal of energy is required to digest the food that is sent to the stomach in chunks.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

What is wrong with E. W. Toy let's read on Page 57

A number of our folks are attending the musical festival in Calgary
this week.

The new Canadian Pacific Railway time table takes effect May 22nd.
See their ad. on Page 10.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Dunsmore and family and also Miss Jessie Gilles, of Baillif are visitors in town
this week.

A dance is to be given at George Mac's at Blind Creek on Friday, May 20th, under the auspices of the Ladies of the Community.

Mr and Mrs Felix Desjardins had the misfortune to upset their car about six miles north of town last night. Mr. Desjardins was rather badly shaken up.

L. S. Cutler is still in a Calgary hospital in a very precarious condition, and his friends will regret to learn that his mother died last week in Calgary. Miss Cricket arrived here yesterday. She and her mother was to have been married to him upon her arrival. The numerous friends are hoping for his speedy recovery.

A couple of weeks ago Pemler Ostrander was kicked on the head by a cow and severely injured at his place of business. He had been days sick in a semi conscious condition.
Local doctors gave him every attention and finally had him moved to a Calgary hospital where an operation revealed an abscess had been formed. Latest reports are that he is improving.

It is estimated that in Toronto the administration of public health service by the municipal health authorities within a period of 10 years has reduced the number of deaths per 1000 less fewer people died last year than would otherwise have been the case.
The aim of the Canadian Red Cross is to increase the number of members in all sections of the country. The national section has over 100,000 members.
The membership enrollment campaign, which will start on May 5th and last one week, is a major effort to increase the membership of this organization and to make Canada a cleaner and healthier place to live in.
